Local Intelligence.

S. Lyons & Co. did quite a stiff wholesale trade, in dry goods yesterday.

But little interest was manifested in the proceedings yesterday in the District Court.

A first-class bore, is the man who mixes up our exchanges before we have a chance to go through 'em.

Moore & Sturgis were as busy as tailors when we were on Bridge street yesterday. They put up several handsome bills for the country.

After seeing the crowded state of Bridge street, we were much of the opinion that business in the city was quite brisk.

Business exhibits a decided tendency to go up Austin Avenue. We understand that several new store houses will be built there this summer during the coming fall.

What about the repairs on the new cistern? Whose business is it to see to the matter, and who will be the sufferer in case we have fire? Why don't the property holders on the square take hold of the thing?

At one time yesterday, Peterson & Blaffer's corner was crowded with wagons from the country, loaded with all kinds of country produce, including cotton and hides, for all of which good prices were obtained.

W. H. Kingsbury, of Kansas City, a large and influential stock dealer, called to see us yesterday. He is on his way to Missouri. The firm he is connected with probably handles more cattle than any other in the West.

Our excellent protem Mayor is having a delightful time, never did official care sit more easily upon official shoulders. The bad folks have all left, or else have a wholesome fear of the court, and indeed it isn't a comfortable place to get into, as we can testify.

There was a "right smart sprinkling" of cotton brought to this city yesterday, which was eagerly snapped up by the hungry buyers.

The corner of Austin Avenue and Fourth streets is a prosperous looking neighborhood. Large and fine looking substantial brick business houses abound in that neighborhood. Some clever merchants have located there, among whom may be mentioned Peterson & Blaffer, Womack & Kellett, T. N. McMullen & Co., Nichols & Page, T. P. Abel, and last but not least, our good natured little friend, A. D. Putnam.

PERDOKAL.—Mr. Charles Winston, of Alabama, nephew of ex-Gov. John A. Winston, paid us a visit yesterday. The young gentleman has been spending a couple of months in looking at this State, and is now on his way home. We would be delighted to have him settle here, could he make it to his interest to do so.

The Midland rail road charter was the absorbing local topic yesterday. We trust that there has been some misapprehension with regard to the points specified in the charter. We can hardly be persuaded that Col. Taylor would designedly leave Waco out in the cold, and the more so, as all his interests are concentrated here. We, if this is the case, must condemn the matter unqualifiedly. Will Col. Taylor rise to explain?

Bred Axling, and his clever partner, Borgman, are busy fixing up the Proctor Spring garden, and just as soon as winter breaks they will dispense "the beverage that cheers, but not does not intoxicate" in the pleasant bowers of that famous resort. These gentlemen do not propose to move all their good things up there. Fine cigars and their whistles will always be found at their house on the Avenue.

I. O. O. F.—We acknowledge, with pleasure, an invitation to the "Encampment Reunion," at the S. Argus House, Monday evening, April 27th.

Committee of Arrangements.—J. T. Walton, T. B. Owens, G. B. Dutton, W. R. Matthews, Theo. A. Reimer, R. M. Stoddard.

Committee of Invitation.—A. G. Tradewell, J. C. Journey, W. R. Clifton, and S. W. Mabry.

GRAND OPENING DAY.—On Saturday, Jack Pierce re-appears in front of his building on the Square as the Auction Man of the West. If you want bargains, give him a call. He has any quantity of goods, carriages, wagons, harness, saddles, &c. Come one, come all! On this occasion, Prof. Platt gives a free exhibition of his educated bazoo. Don't fail to be on hand in time for the performance.

Ve Aud Polke Concert.

The concert Tuesday and Friday nights were well patronized by our best citizens. We did not live a hundred years ago, but from the best authorities at our command, we are prepared to affirm that the costumes were exact copies of those worn by the good old people who lived and sang at that interesting period of the world's history, indeed, we think some of them were splendid artistic triumphs, that of Rebecca Anderson—one that was a McDonald, (Mrs. W. A. Casseday) was almost beyond praise; and the acting and stage play, "the old time courtesies" and that indefinable something that told us that we were in the presence of the men and women who lived one hundred years ago. Love Endicott, Miss Emma Casseday, this character was not only exceedingly correct, as to costume, but was well sustained, throughout a most arduous role. Deliverance Good Speed, Mrs. McCulloch, was another splendid success. Serenite Perkins, Mrs. Capt. Herliott. This costume could not be excelled and was faultlessly correct, as would appear by a comparison with the pictures which have come down to us, of the dames who made our grand-fathers' hearts flutter in the days when the Georges reigned in Merrie England. Patience Holdfast (Miss Sallie Speight), in the costume of a brave highland lassie, won the admiration of the entire audience.

Dutiful Strabout, (Miss Belle Battle) and Plety Stannish, (Miss Alice Cook), were both beautiful toilettes, if they were a little old fashioned, and the characters remarkably well sustained. Mrs. West and Mrs. Douglas represented two ladies, who were considered old fashioned at the time represented, and most artistically indeed, was their old time dress.

Confidant Peleg (Mrs. Col. Gurley) dressed and looked her character to perfection, and won much applause. We really wish our space would permit us to describe these splendid costumes at more length. We have only space left to mention a few of the better costumes among the gentlemen: Ye Head Times, Gustavus Auchtermuchty, (Mr. Fred H. Paige) under whose skillful management the concert was conducted, represented one of those elegant, old time beaux to perfection, and all; the manner and bearing was all that could be desired. Abijah Doolittle (Mr. W. B. Davis) was well dressed and well played in every respect, and warbled some of the sweetest notes of the evening.

Mr. Casseday, Prof. Krause, Mr. Watkins, Mr. Downs, Mr. Killough and Mr. Harrison were all dressed in what was evidently the height of the style, in the good old days represented. Indeed, we may congratulate the actors upon a success as marked, as was ever achieved by amateurs. The house, we are glad to say, was a good one on both occasions, and, no doubt, netted a handsome sum, for the praiseworthy object in view, viz: purchasing an organ for St. Paul's (Episcopal) Church.

LUCKETT'S LINIMENT—LIVING WITNESSES.
BLUE RIDGE, Falls County Texas, August 15, 1873.

Mr. S. L. Lockard:
DEAR SIR—I have been sorely afflicted with Rheumatism for several years, so much so that at times I have not been able to walk without the greatest pain for two and three months together. I have tried every remedy, and been attended on by several good physicians, but have never experienced any relief until I was induced to try "Lockett's Liniment." After using three bottles I find myself entirely well, and I cheerfully give this to the public, hoping that others may see this and profit by my experience, and speedily seek relief in this truly wonderful medicine.

Do Not Persevere the Body

In sickness with medicine that depress the physical energies. What the sick principally need is an accession of vital strength to enable them to cope with the enemy that has assailed them. The diseased system should be sustained, toned, purified and regulated, and there is no medical preparation in existence so largely endowed with the properties required to effect these objects as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. In ordinary practice, aperient, blood-purifying, anti-bilious and sedative medicines are administered separately. In Hostetter's Stomach Bitters all these agents are combined, and act together in perfect harmony, so that undue debility and undue excitement are alike prevented, and the strength of the patient rallies while the disease is losing ground. In dyspepsia, liver complaint, chronic constipation, intermittent fever, general weakness and all ailments involving physical and mental depression, this pure vegetable restorative is a sovereign remedy.
